

Exemplar Transactions

- Represented an insurance company, one of sixteen defendants, in a class action alleging race discrimination in the setting of automobile insurance rates. Jones Walker, acting as lead defense counsel for all insurers, successfully briefed and argued a dispositive motion seeking the dismissal of all claims for refunds of premiums. Once the motion was filed, Jones Walker negotiated a no-money, walk-away in which the plaintiffs simply dismissed the action.
- Represented a defendant in a class action brought by insured homeowners alleging claims of mishandling against multiple insurance companies following a hailstorm.
- Represented life and other insurance carriers' directors and officers, outside counsel, and other professionals in litigation arising from the insurers' insolvency.
