

Commercial Lending & Finance

In the commercial lending and finance arena, Jones Walker represents financial institutions, banks, insurance companies, investors, borrowers, and creditors in a variety of matters, including financing transactions, regulatory matters, and general commercial matters. Our clients benefit from the diverse experience of our commercial lending attorneys. We handle a broad range of financing structures, including:

- Asset securitizations
- Asset-based loans
- Entertainment industry loans
- Equipment and transportation equipment, including aircraft, marine vessel, rolling stock, containers and trailer financings and leases
- International and cross-border transactions, including project finance
- Letters of credit
- Mixed debt and equity financings
- Multi-lender credit syndications
- Oil and gas loan financing
- Real estate and construction loans
- Sale and leaseback transactions
- Syndication financings
- Synthetic lease financing
- Tax credit financing
- Timber financing
- United States Maritime Administration (MARAD) financing

Jones Walker's commercial lending attorneys also have extensive experience counseling clients on various aspects of debtor-creditor relations, such as lender liability disputes, workouts, and surety matters.