Marc C. Hebert is a partner in the firm's Business & Commercial Litigation Practice Group and practices closely with the Business & Commercial Transactions, Government Relations and Admiralty & Maritime Practice Groups. He represents clients in the energy, marine, transportation, and manufacturing industries, and before U.S. federal agencies, the U.S. Congress and foreign governments on regulatory, administrative, and legislative matters. Mr. Hebert has published numerous articles on international trade, maritime and environmental law, and has written and spoken at various seminars on those topics.

He is a member of the Greater New Orleans Barge Fleeting Association Seminar Committee and a Seminar Moderator (2009 to present), serves as Chair of the Greater New Orleans Port Safety Council (2011), and is a Board Member and Secretary/Executive Committee of the Mississippi Valley Trade & Transport Council (2006 to present). In 2008 he was appointed by U.S. Commerce Secretary Carlos Gutierrez and USTR Ambassador Susan Schwab to serve on the Industry Trade Advisory Committee 14, where he served until 2010. Mr. Hebert practiced law with Bracewell & Patterson in Washington, D.C., from 1996 to 2002, following working for the U.S. House of Representatives Government Reform and Oversight Subcommittee on National Economic Growth, Natural Resources, and Regulatory Affairs. From 2002 to 2005, he was an Adjunct Professor at the Loyola University New Orleans College of Law.

Mr. Hebert graduated from Tulane University in 1991, received his juris doctor degree from Loyola University School of Law in 1994, and his LL.M. in Environmental Law from The National Law Center, George Washington University in Washington, D.C. in 1996. He is licensed to practice in state and Federal district and appellate courts, and is admitted in the States of Louisiana and Virginia, the District of Columbia, Federal Court in the Southern District
